Division D – State-Foreign Operations

Overview:

The State, Foreign Operations, and Related Programs bill funds the Department of State, the United States Agency for International Development, and other international programs and activities.

In total, the FY 2020 bill provides $56.4 billion in base discretionary funding—$2.2 billion above the fiscal year 2019 enacted level and $13.7 billion above the President’s budget request. This includes $48.4 billion in base discretionary funding for the State Department, USAID, commissions and related agencies under the jurisdiction of the subcommittee. The bill provides $8 billion in Overseas Contingency Operations/Global War on Terrorism (OCO/GWOT) funding for base requirements that would otherwise go unfunded in the President’s Budget Request.

The bill restores funding for critical diplomatic, development, and humanitarian programs, ensuring robust United States engagement with key international partners and programs.

Bill Summary:

State Department Operations and Related Agencies – The bill contains a total of $17.2 billion in base and OCO funding for the operational costs of the State Department and related agencies, as well as diplomacy efforts to enhance peace and stability around the globe. This is an increase of $885.8 million above the fiscal year 2019 enacted level.

Within this amount, the legislation provides $6.1 billion for embassy security, the same as the fiscal year 2019 enacted level. These funds will address needs at more than 275 diplomatic facilities overseas, including facility upgrades and security personnel.

International Security Assistance – The bill provides a total of $11.2 billion in base and OCO funding for international security assistance, which includes $2.154 billion for the Economic Support Fund. This is $2.034 billion above the fiscal year 2019 enacted level.

The bill strives to foster greater stability and security overseas through “Smart Power.” Funds are included for short-term economic support, international narcotics control and law enforcement activities, antiterrorism programs, nonproliferation programs, peacekeeping operations, and other critical international security efforts. The President’s proposed cuts to diplomacy and development by more than 21% are ill advised at best, and dangerous at worst. If enacted, such cuts would create risks to our national security, undermine United States leadership and stymie worldwide efforts to counter violent extremism and terrorism, making it harder to maintain American leadership in the world. Coupled with the Administration’s repeated attempts to end cooperation with multilateral organizations, these actions bolster the perception that the United States is not a reliable partner and threatens United States economic and national security. The bill’s investments in security assistance continue to yield great dividends over time. The bill also provides funding to fight terrorist financing networks and bolster border and airport security.

In addition, the legislation provides security assistance to key allies and partners. The bill fully funds the $3.3 billion commitment to Israel. The bill continues strong support for Foreign Military Financing programs for Ukraine, Georgia, Egypt, Jordan, and Tunisia – at or above current levels.
The bill maintains robust funding for counter-narcotics and law enforcement efforts in Colombia, Mexico, Central America, and the Caribbean. The legislation also provides $68 million to address international organized crime and $10 million to combat cybercrime.

United States Agency for International Development (USAID) Operations – The bill contains $1.690 billion for USAID and the USAID Office of Inspector General – an increase of $16.1 million from the fiscal year 2019 enacted level. The legislation also includes oversight measures to ensure the proper management of development programs and the appropriate use of United States funds.

Bilateral Economic Assistance – The legislation contains a total of $24.018 billion in base and OCO funding for bilateral long-term assistance to foreign countries and prioritizes development assistance, global health, and humanitarian assistance. This includes $9.3 billion for global health, including $6.3 billion to fight HIV/AIDS around the globe. The bill also moves $2.154 billion in Economic Support Fund previously carried in Bilateral Economic Assistance to Security Assistance. This funding is targeted to activities to provide stability in volatile regions and enhance United States presence in critical and strategic areas.
