

TRANSPORTATION-HOUSING & URBAN DEVELOPMENT

Fiscal Year 2021 Appropriations Bill At-a-Glance

Provides $158.3 billion in base budgetary resources, investing in America's infrastructure, improving transportation safety, protecting vulnerable populations, and expanding access to safe, affordable, and fair housing, and includes $75 billion in emergency spending for transportation and housing infrastructure

Chairman David Price on the Transportation, and Housing and Urban Development, and Related Agencies government funding bill:

"This bill represents a renewed commitment to improve safety, produce more affordable housing, upgrade our aging transportation infrastructure, and bolster our nation's resiliency to a changing climate."

Investing in America's Infrastructure

- $107.2 billion in total budgetary resources for the Department of Transportation, an increase of $21.1 billion above FY20 and $19.4 billion above Trump's request, including:
 - $1 billion for National Infrastructure Investments (TIGER/BUILD)
 - $1 billion for discretionary Highway Infrastructure Programs
 - $510 million for Transit Infrastructure Grants
 - $500 million for Consolidated Rail Infrastructure and Safety Improvements
 - $300 million for the Port Infrastructure Development Program
- An additional $26 billion in emergency funding for transportation programs to strengthen and make more resilient our nation's aging infrastructure, supporting economic recovery from the coronavirus pandemic

Improving Transportation Safety

- $1.5 billion for Aviation Safety
- $1.3 billion for the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration
- $886 million for the Federal Motor Carrier Safety Administration
- $3 million to support the Highly Automated Systems Safety Center of Excellence, a program not included in Trump's request

Expanding Access to Safe, Affordable, & Fair Housing

- $50.6 billion for the Department of Housing and Urban Development, an increase of $1.5 billion above FY20 and $13.3 billion above Trump's request, including:
 - $25.7 billion for Tenant-based Rental Assistance
 - $4.6 billion for the Public Housing Operating Fund
 - $3.2 billion for the Public Housing Capital Fund
 - $893 million for Housing for the Elderly
 - $430 million for Housing Opportunities for People with AIDS
 - $80.3 million for Fair Housing and Equal Opportunity
- An additional $49 billion in emergency spending for HUD programs to bolster communities nationwide by making robust and resilient investments in public housing, affordable housing, and community development
- Blocks the Trump administration's public housing rule change targeting undocumented immigrants, which threatens the housing of 55,000 children who are citizens or legal residents
- Blocks the Trump administration's proposal to weaken housing protections for LGBT individuals

Supporting Community Development

- $3.5 billion for Community Development Block Grants, an increase of $100 million above FY20, and a rejection of Trump's proposal to eliminate the program
