HIGHLIGHTS OF THE BILL

The Committee recommends $3,325,891,946 in discretionary resources for operations of the Legislative Branch of government (excluding Senate items). The fiscal year 2015 recommendation is a decrease of $122,514,829 or 3.7% below the requested amount and is the same as the fiscal year 2014 level.

Conforming to longstanding practice under which each body of Congress determines its own housekeeping requirements and the other concurs without intervention, funds for the Senate are not included in the bill as reported to the House. The budget request for the Senate for fiscal year 2015 including those under the Architect of the Capitol totals $1,016,493,432.

This bill reflects a continued acknowledgment that the Legislative Branch must set itself as an example for fiscal restraint while continuing to serve the Nation. This bill will require strict fiscal discipline on the part of all congressional offices and all agency heads in the Legislative Branch.

LEGISLATIVE BRANCH-WIDE MATTERS

Zero Base Budgeting.—The Committee continues to be very pleased with the results of the zero-base budgeting exercise directed to be conducted by all the agencies of the Legislative Branch. The Committee believes that this valuable budgeting process has given agencies the opportunity to take a fresh look at all areas of their operations and make funding reductions and alignments within the current budget base. The Committee believes that there are continued opportunities to realize meaningful savings by carefully reviewing each agency's budget requirements from a zero base and directs all agencies to continue to develop budget requests from a zero base.

Committee Requests, Furloughs and Performance Based Merit Increases.—The Committee directs that adherence to the language carried in House Report 112–148 and 112–511 pertaining to Committee Requests, Furloughs, and Performance Based Merit Increases be continued unless otherwise so directed.

Shared Services.—The Committee continues to pursue financial management shared services opportunities among all the agencies of the Legislative Branch. For example the current migration of the Architect of the Capitol financial data into the Legislative Branch Financial Management System (LBFMS) shared services environment at the Library of Congress is estimated to achieve an annual savings of almost $1.4 million dollars. This follows on the back of the Capitol Police migration that realized an annual savings of $1.8 million dollars a year. In addition, the Multi-Agency Financial Audit Contract for agencies participating in the LBFMS (Library of Congress, Capitol Police, Congressional Budget Office, Office of Compliance and the Open World Leadership Center) is projected to realize a savings of $1.9 million dollars over the life of the contract.

Further a gap analysis currently being conducted to assess the feasibility of migrating the Government Accountability Office (GAO) financial data into the LBFMS environment has begun. The potential future migration of the GAO into the LBFMS is anticipated to achieve additional savings for the Legislative Branch by consolidating transaction processing, eliminating services level overhead, and reducing further financial system audit costs.

The Committee directs the Legislative Branch Financial Managers Council (LBFMC) to prepare a report for the Committee on Appropriations on the feasibility of other shared services such as general financial transactions processing (e.g., accounts payable, accounts receivable, financial systems administration, and financial reporting), contracting, procurement, travel, human resources and other common processes, within the agencies of the Legislative Branch that could realize additional savings. This report is to be delivered to the Committee on Appropriations of the House and Senate no later than December 31, 2014.

Using the latest salary estimates from USCP, the Committee expects this level of funding to support a staffing level of 1,775 of the 1,800 authorized sworn positions and 370 of the authorized 443 civilian positions.

The recommendation for USCP funding is based on only critical requirements necessary to mitigate and address threats and risks. It does not provide for any new initiatives.

Operational Deployment.—With the exception of the United States Capitol Police (USCP) Dignitary Protective Details, no USCP operational deployment outside of the greater Washington DC area in support of the House of Representatives is allowable unless the USCP Plan of Action (POA) includes a detailed cost analysis and is approved by the House Sergeant at Arms (HSAA). At a minimum the cost analysis should include the number of personnel deployed, dates and method of travel, cost of airfare, cost of per diem, number of hotel nights and associated cost, and all rental vehicles and associated cost. The HSAA shall make a determination no later than five business days prior to the first expected travel date. Within thirty days after the deployment a full report documenting the exact cost of the trip shall be submitted to the HSAA. In addition, the USCP is to report quarterly to the House Committee on Appropriations the individual deployment, total personnel deployed and total associated cost.

New Posts.—The Committee continues to direct the USCP to notify the Committee on Appropriations of the House and Senate when new posts are created, including the annualized cost of maintaining the new post, and how the cost will be offset.

Access to House Office Buildings.—The Committee is extremely concerned about access to the House Office Buildings. The importance of access to the legislative branch of government by constituents, visitors, tourists and general public is central to our democratic process, and all who come to visit their Representatives must have timely entrance to the House Office Buildings. The Committee finds that the existing wait-times for the general public visiting the House Office Buildings as unacceptable during certain periods of the day. Therefore, the Chief is directed to explore all options to remedy this problem, to include the opening of additional doors to the House office buildings during certain peak periods, the use of additional magnetometers at existing points of entry, and the additional use of hand magnetometers to pre-screen the public at key access points. All of these options should be accomplished through the use of existing manpower without the use of additional overtime. The Chief is directed to work with the Sergeant at Arms of the House to develop an actionable plan that will ensure public access to the House Office Buildings is remedied during heightened periods of public visitation. The Chief should also work with the Architect of the Capitol to determine if interior reconfiguration can be performed at the entrances which can presently only accommodate one magnetometer. This actionable plan must be submitted to the House Committee on Appropriations no later than April 23, 2014.

In addition, by including $70,000,000 for the House Historic Buildings Revitalization Trust Fund, the bill continues the Committee's commitment to advance planning for major capital renewal projects which will be essential to sustaining the performance of historic House buildings.

Project Costing Methodology.—The Committee directed, in House Report 113–173, the Government Accountability Office (GAO) to review the Architect of the Capitol (AOC) project costing methodology. The Committee had concerns that considering the current fiscal environment the AOC may not have been taking into account all the variables that contribute to the development of project cost estimates. The AOC's ability to generate reliable cost estimates is very important to informing the Committees' funding decisions and enabling the AOC to effectively request funding across competing projects. The GAO report (GAO–14–333) has outlined some issues that need to be addressed and the Committee expects the AOC to take appropriate and necessary corrective action.

The AOC is responsible for the maintenance, operation, development, and preservation of the United States Capitol Complex. This includes mechanical and structural maintenance of the Capitol, Congressional office buildings, the Library of Congress buildings, the U.S. Botanic Garden, the Capitol Power Plant, and other facilities, as well as the upkeep and improvement of the grounds surrounding the Capitol complex. Established by Congress in 1800, the Library of Congress is one of the largest libraries in the world, with a collection of more than 130,000,000 print, audio, and video items in 460 languages. Among its major programs are acquisitions, preservation, administration of U.S. copyright laws by the Copyright Office, research and analysis of policy issues for the Congress by the Congressional Research Service, and administration of a national program to provide reading material to the blind and physically handicapped. The Library maintains a significant number of collections and provides a range of services to libraries in the United States and abroad.

SALARIES AND EXPENSES

Recommended in the bill	417,707,000

The Committee has provided an additional $1,000,000 for the Teaching with Primary Sources program to be used to increase competitive opportunities for developing online interactive and apps for classroom use on Congress and civic participation. In addition the Committee has provided $400,000 for the purchase of books law and $2,180,000 for the purchase of books general.

The Committee expects the $3,810,000 remainder from the one-time cost for the financial system migration be applied proportionately to all Library of Congress, Salary and Expenses activities to partially offset the impact of the sequestration.

The Committee expects the Veterans History Project and the Civil Rights History Project will be maintained at least at the fiscal year 2014 levels.

Office of Strategic Initiatives.—The Committee believes that information technology is critical to ensuring that all Library programs and services continue to meet the challenges and opportunities before them. The Committee stated in House Report 112–148 which accompanied the fiscal year 2012 Appropriation bill that “the major information technology requirements of Library organizations will only be met through Library-wide collaboration”. The Committee report further directed “the Librarian of Congress to consider managing within the Office of the Librarian all Library information technology planning and resource allocation to ensure that information technology requirements are properly prioritized and those resources are effectively used”.

In order to be assured that Library information technology requirements, are being met through a robust Library-wide collaboration and planning process which properly prioritizes the requirements, of all Library programs, including the Congressional Research Service, the Copyright Office and the National Library Service for the Blind and Physically Handicapped, the Committee directs the Government Accountability Office (GAO) to review the actions taken by the Library to manage the information technology supporting its programs and operations, including an evaluation of the extent in which the Library:

Addresses in the Library’s strategic planning the information technology and related resources required to meet the agency’s strategic goals and objectives;

Has established goals for, and measures the contribution of, information technology support for Library programs and operations;

Manages the selection, control, and evaluation of information technology investments through a capital planning and investment control process;

Uses best practice system development techniques, such as incremental development, to provide cost effective and timely delivery of information technology acquisitions;

Has established an information technology governance structure, with a Chief Information Officer (CIO), with authority to exercise control and oversight of information technology management functions; and lastly

Has established a program which effectively provides information security and privacy protections for the information and information systems that supports the operations and assets of the Library.

The Committee further directs that periodic progress reports/meetings be provided to the Committee regarding this review and that a final report be provided to the Committee on Appropriations of the House and Senate no later than March 31, 2015.

Preservation.—The Committee acknowledges the challenges the Library faces to preserve its rich and diverse collections, by balancing the allocation of existing resources in support of multiple preservation strategies. This strategy includes, but is not limited to cold storage, reformatting, conservation, binding, deacidification, and reformatting embrittled books through digitization. It was in the interest of supporting one of the Library’s most important preservation strategies that the Committee provided funding to support construction of the fifth environmentally controlled collections storage module at the Fort Meade complex. With the ever increasing shrinking dollars within the entire Federal budget, the Committee understands and supports a balanced realignment of funding that will best address all the elements and programs of the Preservation Directorate. The Committee has included $1,000,000 for a $5,500,000 base funding for the Preservation Directorate to continue the 30 year program of mass deacidification. In addition, the Committee has provided $2,000,000 for compact shelving at the Library's Packard Campus.

Unfunded FTE's.—The Committee fully understands that funding reductions over the past years has resulted in authorized but unfunded Full-Time-Equivalent's (FTE's). Currently the Library has an excess of authorized but unfunded FTE's Library wide. The Committee directs the Library to make appropriate reductions in all appropriations under, the heading Library of Congress, and reflect those downward adjustments in the fiscal year 2016 budget request.

Center for Audit Excellence.—The Committee believes:

(1) The Government Accountability Office (GAO) is a global leader in developing, applying, and interpreting Government Auditing Standards and other guidance relevant to federal, state, local and international audit institutions.

(2) There is a worldwide demand for an organization like the GAO to assume a leadership role in building institutional auditing capacity and promoting good governance by providing affordable, relevant, and high quality training, technical assistance, and products and services to personnel and organizations through-out the domestic and international auditing communities.

(3) The GAO is well positioned to establish a Center for Audit Excellence that will serve not only as a means to improve domestic audit capabilities, but also as a national tool for promoting good governance, political and economic stability, transparency, and accountability around the world.

(4) Because the United States has become increasingly dependent on global supply chains to ensure reliable access to a wide range of essential products, including food, medicine, and advanced technologies, promotion of high quality audit institutions and governance standards will serve the safety and well-being of the American people.

(5) Such a Center could also provide reciprocal benefits to the GAO by enhancing institutional expertise, expanding its domestic and global networks, and strengthening staff experience and professional development.

Therefore, the Committee has included language establishing the Center for Audit Excellence to be operated on a fee-based basis. The Committee directs the GAO to prepare and submit a business plan for the Center to the Committee on Appropriations and Oversight and Government Reform of the House.
